NOVEMBER 2014

CURRICULUM VITAE

Born in Brisbane, 1972, Annabel Tully studied education at Griffith University, Brisbane and continued her career as teacher and artist as she travelled throughout Australia and abroad, ever searching for a greater appreciation of the surrounding landscape and the people to whom it inhabits. In 2007, Bunginderry Artist Camp added another strong arm to her business. She now gives back to her community through public speaking and community workshops.

ARTISTS' STATEMENT

I live in, and travel extensively through, arid Australia. I aim to be respectful of the close kinship that humans experience with their homeland. In doing this I am quite explicit in my choice of special places, ones of meaning to the inhabitant. In this new series, The Channel Country, I aim to express my astute eye for all things natural. Each work has no reference to anything manmade, which directly reflects our environmentally conscious management practices for open grazing in the Channel Country. The subject matter of each painting is chosen with care and consideration for the significance and personal relationship with that location. The technique of wet on wet responds directly to the fluidity of the water in the channels. The use of natural ochres found on Tully's homeland "Bunginderry" allows each narrative to respond to the raw experience of being at one with the land.
